

Mehdi Koolivand Salooki

Instructor

Initiative-taking and results-oriented PhD in Chemical Engineering with extensive experience in process simulation, development, and optimization; with over 14 years of experience in the energy sector, Hydrogen, CO2 capture, oil & gas, and chemicals industries. I am a creative and adaptive analytical person who is enthusiastic about finding practical and innovative solutions within the realm of green technologies. I thrive in fast-paced environment, working on high-quality projects where I can uncover optimal solutions within tight deadlines. I'm a tutor of various technical courses in oil and gas industry with over ten years of experience both nationally and internationally.